A visit to Chew Valley Lake

Chew Valley Lake is a semi-natural reservoir ten miles south of Bristol, and it's the largest lake in south-west England. The group will visit parts of the lake, explore the nature trails and visit some of the hides which will require a permit costing £2.50 pp which can be purchased on the day. Meet at Woodford Lodge at 10.00am. <http://www.cvlbirding.co.uk/birdingmap.html>
A packed lunch will be required.
